

Editor (Games) 100%

Unique opportunity for an accomplished professional with a passion for tabletop games, a love of good design and a strong business sense. You would be in charge of developing existing ranges and creating new ones that people seek around the world. Ideal for a team player looking to work in a collaborative and positive work culture. Full-time position. Ideally in Basel, Switzerland.

ABOUT US

HELVETIQ is an international publishing house based in Switzerland and founded in 2008. We publish non-fiction books for adults, fiction and non-fiction books for children and tabletop games that are distributed in 35 countries. We are best-known for pocket games like Bandido, the beer hiking book series, and for surprising people with new ideas all the time. Our team includes 12 professionals and we pride ourselves for the eight languages spoken among us.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Define strategy to create long-lasting and differentiated titles and ranges
- Originate and develop game titles, themes and mechanics that are spot-on Helvetiq
- Build strong relationships with designers and illustrators and negotiate contracts
- Evaluate submissions, play test and develop games
- Guide projects through the publishing process from gameplay to finished products by working with design, production and sales to create timeless best-selling titles
- Lead a bi-monthly games editorial meeting to decide on projects and respond fast
- Participate in bi-monthly books editorial meetings to synergise books and games
- Write copy for sales sheets, game rules, back covers, catalogs
- Grow revenue and profitability by optimising productions and monitoring financials

QUALIFICATIONS

- Demonstrated success in a game editing and/or product management role
- Passion for games with an understanding of the global games landscape
- Self-starter with a high level of energy, initiative and a positive attitude
- Creativity, an eye for design, and business sense
- Strong writing and editing skills with a superior attention to details
- Outstanding command of English; German and/or French skills are a big plus
- Bachelor's or Master's degree in a relevant field

STARTING DATE

- As of October 1st 2021, to be discussed

BENEFITS

- Join one of the most internationally-minded teams in publishing
- Work in an inspired work environment surrounded by smart, fun people
- Collaborative networked organisation with little hierarchy
- Our mantra: freedom and responsibility.
- We sometimes go to the mountains to play games and work after a hike

Apply by sending your resume, cover letter and portfolio to hadi.barkat@helvetiq.ch